Monday Morning News 6/10/24

Edgerton Outreach
serving those in need

Director's Note

I hope everyone had an enjoyable Memorial Day. I took the holiday as an opportunity to forget to send out Monday Morning News. Ufda.

This past week I was able to help out at the Steve Stricker American Family Champions Tour Golf event. Edgerton Outreach and many other non profits near and far are grant beneficiaries from this event. Thank you to Steve and Nikki Stricker, American Family Insurance, and to everyone that supported the event by attending.

ECO is hiring a Clothing Specialist. This person will oversee the pre-sorting process of clothing, help our Opportunities staff while pre-sorting, and work to grow our inventory of vintage clothing. Last month ECO was blessed to work business students from UW Whitewater. Their focus was helping with Feels Like Home but I heard loud and clear that ECO needs to get into the vintage clothing market. As we continue to grow, with the help of our volunteers, we will determine the correct sales space for vintage clothing; online, possible pop up store in back half of Feels Like Home, or selling at ECO. We hope to fill this position in the next few weeks.

I will be out of the office June 21—July 7. I will be attending the International Zonta Conference in Brisbane Australia. The ECO crew will be able to help and assist in all capacities while I am gone.

Today was the first day of Lunch in the Park. We are serving Monday—Thursday at Summer School as well as Central Park. Lunch is free to any student! Today we served over 80 kiddos!!

We are looking for sponsors for Lunch in the Park. It costs $160 to become a sponsor for one week. Please contact Alyssa for more information 608.205.7239

Thank you for Supporting the Freedom Kitchen!
